Business – the ultimate mobile switchboard for all companies

Replace your switchboard with Aurora spondi's Business package solution for professional and flexible call handling on the move. The smart modules in the mobile switchboard improve your company's availability and deliver the best possible service to your customers.

A mobile switchboard is the easy way to improve your company's phone culture. Aurora spondi is cloud based and can be used standalone or integrated with your existing switchboard solution. The only thing you and your colleagues need is an Android phone or an iPhone.

Smarter solution

Our Business package is built from various practical modules and functions. With the smartest Response Groups around, there's no need to remember to log in and out of your mobile switchboard. The moment you set an absence, you will not receive any more group calls. You clearly see who is calling, the activated response group, and which other colleagues are being called.

Better service

It is easy to set an absence. It is up to you whether to use a prerecorded absence message or record your own. You can use the interactive menu to answer a call and immediately play a personal absence message. You can also offer the caller a callback time. Aurora spondi will remind you when it's time to make the call.

More options

Do you want to let your callers decide who they want to talk to? You can use a menu to specify what options to present to your customers. It's also easy to record and save your important calls. You can listen to the recordings directly from Aurora spondi.

Benefits of Business:

- Stay in control of all your calls.
- No need to log in and out of the mobile switchboard.
- Interactive menu for an instant absence message.
- Offer the caller a callback time.
- Easy to record and save important calls.
- Your customers choose who they want to talk to.
